

NEW-YORK TRIBUNE.

NEW-YORK, TUESDAY, MAY 1.

Democratic State General Committee.—An Appeal from this Committee will be made on TUESDAY EVENING, MAY 1, at 7 o'clock, at the Broadway House. By order,

HENRY E. DAVIES, Chairman.

ZORAH MILLER, Vice-Chairman.

JOSPEH R. TAYLOR, Secretary.

$600.

FIRST OF MAY.—Those of our Subscribers about to change their residences, will oblige us by leaving their addresses at the Counting-room.

The Wisconsin Constitution.

The State of Wisconsin last Fall voted as follows:

President—Whig, 11,167; V. Barnet, 10,419; Cass, 10,000; Cooper—Whig, 13,240; Free Soil, 1,284; Loyalists, 15,772.

It was morally certain, in the nature of things, that two of these parties would combine and beat the other; the only open question related to the conditions and the time. The Loco-Foco, having farthest to go to get on the Buffalo Platform, started early, and have come in ahead; they have effected a coalition with the Free Soilers, and now feel sure of a long term of power.

The basis of union is the adoption by each party of all the distinctive principles of the other, so that the new creed is formed by the rule of Simple Addition. The 'Democrats,' as Gen. Cass's supporters call themselves, adopt from the Free Soilers and agree henceforth to maintain the following:

1. No more Slave Territory, nor Slave States.

2. The repeal of all U. S. laws recognizing or upholding Slavery at Washington.

3. A positive prohibition of slavery in the New Territories, New Mexico and California.

4. LAND LIMITATION.—No man hereafter to acquire land beyond a fixed maximum.

5. The Public Lands to be granted in limited tracts to Actual Settlers for the cost of Survey, &c.

6. Liberal appropriations by Congress for River and Harbor Improvements.

7. Equal suffrage for Men of all Colors.

So far, the principles came from the Reform side, and on the whole are pretty well. The following are taken from the other side:

8. No Tariff at all; the Federal Government to be supported by Direct Taxation.

9. No National Bank, no Deposit of Government Funds in any Bank, the Sub-Treasury.

The following is not peculiar to either or any party:

10. Liberal Exemptions of both Real and Personal Property from Sale on Execution.

Such is the compound basis on which the coalesced party has agreed to act hereafter, and union meetings are now being held throughout the State to ratify and cement the coalition. The Free Soil party, having more principles to contribute, has of course furnished the larger share of materials for the new platform, but the terms of union are not unfair. The Free Soilers back out of the Buffalo position with regard to the Tariff, which was the reverse of the foregoing; but then the Hunker give up a good deal more in swinging clear round to the Wilmett Proviso, and beyond it. No reasonable man could ask them to go farther; and if their Congressman (one of whom is Isaac P. Walker) shall be induced to act faithfully up to these professions, we shall deem the condition not unfruitful of good. So with regard to Land Reform, on which the new platform is more thorough than any ground taken by a dominant party in any state of the Union. We trust that this union commits Wisconsin heartily and irreversibly to a leading part in the struggle now coming to a head in the Land Laws of the States and the Union. Yet we cannot forget that hitherto there has been loud talk of in favor Land Reform before the People which has not been justified by the action in Congress of those elected under it.

—The Loco-Foco contributions to the new creed we cannot approve of. True, the Hard Money clause is of less practical importance so long as the Government remains heavily in debt and the Treasury constantly drawn down as low as it well can be to pay interest on loans and extra liabilities of all kinds, while the Public Lands are nearly all bought with no money at all, but with very dubious bits of paper termed Soldiers' Bounty Warrants. With a Treasury so caulked, pasted, plastered with shin-plasters of all kinds, it is of little practical consequence that the prevailing policy is called Hard Money, and it may choose to be tickled by the name, why let them? And yet to-day the Sub-Treasury is an incubus and a burthen, abstracting some Millions of Dollars in coin from positive utility and rendering it a dead-weight and a drag upon the Currency and Business of the Country. Let the Bounties Offices in Wisconsin receive Specie for a few months, paying none out, and the People of that State would realize its oppressions as they now do not. But if the coalesced parties are really so fond of the Hard Money principle why don't they propose to collect their own revenues on that principle? Why is there no change in the market for Flour, and the sales are 1,000 bds. included in which was Howard and City Mills at previous quotations. Sales of Maryland Red Wheat at $1 a bushel and Pennsylvania White at the latter figure. The market for Corn has an upward tendency, with sales of Yellow at $3 a bushel, and White at $3 25c. Provisions are in steady demand, though quotations are rather heavy. The GROCERY MARKET is without change.

Steamship Sarah Sands.—Capt. CORNISH of the British bark Sarah Sands, states that on the 23d of April, 4 A.M., lat 40° 50', long 02° 50', he saw a large steam vessel a few miles astern, coming toward him under steam. At the time there was no wind but a strong springing up, when the steamer was within a short distance of him, he made all sail, and ran out of sight of her by 10 o'clock the same morning. Capt. Corish says there is no doubt it was the Sarah Sands. The Sarah Sands was also seen on the same day by another vessel, 4 days out from the port. She may therefore be expected to arrive to-day or tomorrow.

County Deleges.—Fremont's Parade—Convict Recaptured—Markets.

PHILADELPHIA, Monday, April 30.

The "shower month" is leaving us in the most delightful temperate imaginable, for a blander or more delicious day I have never known.

Our County Board this morning refused to adopt a resolution to inquire into the expediency of erecting more commodious and safe public buildings for the Courts and Sheriff. They are much needed, however, to do away with old and poor.

The Fremont's Parade of to-morrow will be truly magnificent, 64 of the city companies will turn out. The ship Susan G. (one of the best) was to have been sent to-day, but she has been detained by the weather. Mr. Chambers preached an eloquent sermon from her deck yesterday afternoon to an immense concourse.

Both of the convicts, Moultrie and Bush, who escaped from Missouri, were recaptured yesterday. They are now in custody, and are to be tried for their offense.

The discussion of the subject of the day is the

abolition of the Slave.

There are about 300 canal boats heavily laden with freight from the east and south, waiting to be "locked" into the Canal opposite the city to-morrow.

About 6 o'clock this morning a fire broke out in Ashland place, destroying the entire building, which cost about $20,000 each. There is an insurance of $200,000 on the Firemen's Insurance Company, Albany, and $1,000 in the Mutual Insurance Company, Albany.

Breast in the Erie Canal.—SCOTTSDALE, Monday, April 30.

There is no change in the market for Flour, and the sales are 1,000 bds. included in which was Howard and City Mills at previous quotations. Sales of Maryland Red Wheat at $1 a bushel and Pennsylvania White at the latter figure. The market for Corn has an upward tendency, with sales of Yellow at $3 a bushel, and White at $3 25c. Provisions are in steady demand, though quotations are rather heavy. The GROCERY MARKET is without change.

Steamship Sarah Sands.—Capt. CORNISH of the British bark Sarah Sands, states that on the 23d of April, 4 A.M., lat 40° 50', long 02° 50', he saw a large steam vessel a few miles astern, coming toward him under steam. At the time there was no wind but a strong springing up, when the steamer was within a short distance of him, he made all sail, and ran out of sight of her by 10 o'clock the same morning. Capt. Corish says there is no doubt it was the Sarah Sands. The Sarah Sands was also seen on the same day by another vessel, 4 days out from the port. She may therefore be expected to arrive to-day or tomorrow.

County Deleges.—Fremont's Parade—Convict Recaptured—Markets.

PHILADELPHIA, Monday, April 30.

The "shower month" is leaving us in the most delightful temperate imaginable, for a blander or more delicious day I have never known.

Our County Board this morning refused to adopt a resolution to inquire into the expediency of erecting more commodious and safe public buildings for the Courts and Sheriff. They are much needed, however, to do away with old and poor.

The Fremont's Parade of to-morrow will be truly magnificent, 64 of the city companies will turn out. The ship Susan G. (one of the best) was to have been sent to-day, but she has been detained by the weather. Mr. Chambers preached an eloquent sermon from her deck yesterday afternoon to an immense concourse.

Both of the convicts, Moultrie and Bush, who escaped from Missouri, were recaptured yesterday. They are now in custody, and are to be tried for their offense.

The discussion of the subject of the day is the

abolition of the Slave.

There are about 300 canal boats heavily laden with freight from the east and south, waiting to be "locked" into the Canal opposite the city to-morrow.

About 6 o'clock this morning a fire broke out in Ashland place, destroying the entire building, which cost about $20,000 each.

The discussion of the subject of the day is the

abolition of the Slave.

There are about 300 canal boats heavily laden with freight from the east and south, waiting to be "locked" into the Canal opposite the city to-morrow.

About 6 o'clock this morning a fire broke out in Ashland place, destroying the entire building, which cost about $20,000 each.

The discussion of the subject of the day is the

abolition of the Slave.

There are about 300 canal boats heavily laden with freight from the east and south, waiting to be "locked" into the Canal opposite the city to-morrow.

About 6 o'clock this morning a fire broke out in Ashland place, destroying the entire building, which cost about $20,000 each.

The discussion of the subject of the day is the

abolition of the Slave.

There are about 300 canal boats heavily laden with freight from the east and south, waiting to be "locked" into the Canal opposite the city to-morrow.

About 6 o'clock this morning a fire broke out in Ashland place, destroying the entire building, which cost about $20,000 each.

The discussion of the subject of the day is the

abolition of the Slave.

There are about 300 canal boats heavily laden with freight from the east and south, waiting to be "locked" into the Canal opposite the city to-morrow.

About 6 o'clock this morning a fire broke out in Ashland place, destroying the entire building, which cost about $20,000 each.

The discussion of the subject of the day is the

abolition of the Slave.

There are about 300 canal boats heavily laden with freight from the east and south, waiting to be "locked" into the Canal opposite the city to-morrow.

About 6 o'clock this morning a fire broke out in Ashland place, destroying the entire building, which cost about $20,000 each.

The discussion of the subject of the day is the

abolition of the Slave.

There are about 300 canal boats heavily laden with freight from the east and south, waiting to be "locked" into the Canal opposite the city to-morrow.

About 6 o'clock this morning a fire broke out in Ashland place, destroying the entire building, which cost about $20,000 each.

The discussion of the subject of the day is the

abolition of the Slave.

There are about 300 canal boats heavily laden with freight from the east and south, waiting to be "locked" into the Canal opposite the city to-morrow.

About 6 o'clock this morning a fire broke out in Ashland place, destroying the entire building, which cost about $20,000 each.

The discussion of the subject of the day is the

abolition of the Slave.

There are about 300 canal boats heavily laden with freight from the east and south, waiting to be "locked" into the Canal opposite the city to-morrow.

About 6 o'clock this morning a fire broke out in Ashland place, destroying the entire building, which cost about $20,000 each.

The discussion of the subject of the day is the

abolition of the Slave.

There are about 300 canal boats heavily laden with freight from the east and south, waiting to be "locked" into the Canal opposite the city to-morrow.

About 6 o'clock this morning a fire broke out in Ashland place, destroying the entire building, which cost about $20,000 each.

The discussion of the subject of the day is the

abolition of the Slave.

There are about 300 canal boats heavily laden with freight from the east and south, waiting to be "locked" into the Canal opposite the city to-morrow.

About 6 o'clock this morning a fire broke out in Ashland place, destroying the entire building, which cost about $20,000 each.

The discussion of the subject of the day is the

abolition of the Slave.

There are about 300 canal boats heavily laden with freight from the east and south, waiting to be "locked" into the Canal opposite the city to-morrow.

About 6 o'clock this morning a fire broke out in Ashland place, destroying the entire building, which cost about $20,000 each.

The discussion of the subject of the day is the

abolition of the Slave.

There are about 300 canal boats heavily laden with freight from the east and south, waiting to be "locked" into the Canal opposite the city to-morrow.

About 6 o'clock this morning a fire broke out in Ashland place, destroying the entire building, which cost about $20,000 each.

The discussion of the subject of the day is the

abolition of the Slave.

There are about 300 canal boats heavily laden with freight from the east and south, waiting to be "locked" into the Canal opposite the city to-morrow.

About 6 o'clock this morning a fire broke out in Ashland place, destroying the entire building, which cost about $20,000 each.

The discussion of the subject of the day is the

abolition of the Slave.

There are about 300 canal boats heavily laden with freight from the east and south, waiting to be "locked" into the Canal opposite the city to-morrow.

About 6 o'clock this morning a fire broke out in Ashland place, destroying the entire building, which cost about $20,000 each.

The discussion of the subject of the day is the

abolition of the Slave.

There are about 300 canal boats heavily laden with freight from the east and south, waiting to be "locked" into the Canal opposite the city to-morrow.

About 6 o'clock this morning a fire broke out in Ashland place, destroying the entire building, which cost about $20,000 each.

The discussion of the subject of the day is the

abolition of the Slave.

There are about 300 canal boats heavily laden with freight from the east and south, waiting to be "locked" into the Canal opposite the city to-morrow.

About 6 o'clock this morning a fire broke out in Ashland place, destroying the entire building, which cost about $20,000 each.

The discussion of the subject of the day is the

abolition of the Slave.

There are about 300 canal boats heavily laden with freight from the east and south, waiting to be "locked" into the Canal opposite the city to-morrow.

About 6 o'clock this morning a fire broke out in Ashland place, destroying the entire building, which cost about $20,000 each.

The discussion of the subject of the day is the